King size platform bed with storage canada

My son-in-law asked if I could make him and my son frame a California King bed with a lot of storage. I said, Sure, THE PLATFORM BED PLAN FROM WMMI STEVE RAMSEY has been a fan of Steve Ramsey for years. He makes it easy to follow. I downloaded his plans and followed them. Plans list all the materials along with cut charts. IMPORTANT: CHECK ALL YOUR MEASURES. THE THICKNESS OF THE WOOD VARIES. USE JIG AND STOP TO GET VERY ACCURATE CUTS AND DISTANCES. I CANT STRESS ENOUGH OF THIS. Here are the tools needed to complete this project. Miter sawPocket holes jig and bitsScrew guns and various screwCompressor and gunMalletOrbital sanderrounds TableClampsGlueStain use ragam and berusPolyurethaneI work in sections, performing external frames for each box first. I cut the pieces for size. Using my assembly desk and pocket hole volume and lots of pocket screws I installed two box frames. As I installed the parts I made jig to help align runners and guides. I spent extra time reviewing plans and labeling pieces. Where I didn't use pocket screws I used my brad nails to hold the board in place while the glue was set. Once both mirror image frames finished, I coated the wood with pre-dirt then stained it. When that was thoroughly dried I gave a poly coat. Sand when dry and added a second coat. Plans for the construction of drawers using ply plyblood 3/4. I use 1/2 plywood, I use 1/4 masonite for the bottom of the drawer. I had used masonite before other projects calling for the bottom of the drawer. It makes the interior very nice and smooth. This is where I ignore the cutting guide and measure every part of itself. I installed every drawer using glue and brads. I rabbeted the bottom of each drawer for the masonite to fit the flush to the bottom. I doubled and three times checked for square. I use patchy candles to both the bottom of the drawer and the guide they slide. There are a total of 6 drawers. Drawer faces in a show called for tearing 1 x 10s to 8. I am not. I left them at 9 1/4. No knobs are used because they stick too far and one can hurt themselves. Instead, I routed the pull of the finger on the edge, even on a fixed drawer face. I experimented with fewer rounds to pull up the fingers and a little bit jada too. The one I settled on was a rabbit. Then I stain and poke them, sand up to 320 clutter between coats. Two box frames. Six drawers. There is actually a place for two more drawers where the final table is on the head of the bed. I can always add this if they are Need. I didn't make any dummy drawer faces for the back of the bed. This will resist the wall and is not visible. Also, I might build a headboard if my kids want it. To make sure despite the distance I made some spacers, holding drawers overlooking the space and being guaranteed with brads to hold faces in place and screws to get them. I set the drawer aside. You can see the face of the fake drawer on the box frame. I made the mattress support from 1/2 plywood. Yes, I'm cut Piece. My son and my son-in-law lived twenty-five minutes away. We loaded the plywood parts and boxes into borrowed trucks. I loaded the drawer into my SUV. We all drive into their homes. Then we brought the parts up to three flights of stairs into their bedrooms. I twisted two frames together and we were wearing mattresses and sliding in drawers and it was done.
